

Introduction

The household expenditure and income (household budget) were first studied in the year 1314 by the National Bank of Iran. The main objective of the study was to obtain the consumption coefficients for the calculation of the living expenditure index. After a long hiatus, in the year 1338, the Economic Studies Office of the National Bank of Iran collected statistics in this field by interviewing sample households in 23 cities of the country to revise the weight of the living expenditure index. Since the year 1344, the Central Bank of I. R. Iran has been conducting regular studies on the income and expenditure of urban households. Since the year 1347, the Statistical Centre of Iran (SCI) has initiated a larger survey of household expenditure in urban areas. Since the year 1353, the survey has covered both the expenditure and income of urban households and has continued to date, excluding the years 1355, 1357, and 1360. Annually, the results are processed and published.

The survey of rural households' expenditure and income was first conducted by the General Department of Public Statistics in the year 1342, and with the establishment of the SCI in the year 1344, the survey continued on a larger scale by the new organization.

Currently, statistics on urban households' expenditure and income are being released by both the Central Bank and the SCI; however, those on rural households are being released by the SCI.

In this chapter, the statistics on average annual food and non-food expenditures of an urban and a rural household have been presented by deciles of expenditure, size of household, and average annual income of the mentioned households by income sources based on the results of the SCI's (sample) surveys. These surveys were taken according to the recommendations of the United Nations (NHSCP and SNA publications). The sample survey is conducted by visiting sample households in urban and rural areas.

Definitions and concepts

Household consumption expenditure: This is the real value of goods and services provided by the household for own consumption or as gifts to others via purchase, household production, against service, trading, and free of charge (from organizations).

Household gross expenditure: This includes the real value from the sale of second-hand goods.

Household net expenditure: Whenever the value of the second-hand goods sold is deducted from the value of the similar goods purchased in the statistical period, the amount left over will be the household net expenditure of the goods concerned.

Household, urban and rural areas: see Chapter 3, "Population" Definitions and concepts.

Expenditure deciles: They are the amounts of expenditures (net/gross) that divide the surveyed households into 10 equal parts in terms of the expenditures (net/gross). Accordingly, $(10 \times i)$ percent of the surveyed households have spendings less than the i th tenth of the expenditures (net / gross), ($i = .1$ and... and 10).

Household income: This refers to all the sums and real value of goods and services received by the household members for the job done or capital invested or from other resources (retirement pension, assets income, transitional receipts, etc.). In this survey, various net incomes are as follows:

Net income from wage and salary earnings in the public sector: This refers to the income of all the wage and salary earners of the household members working in the public sector including their continuous and non-continuous monetary and non-monetary receipts after tax deduction and retirement contribution.

Net income from wage and salary earnings in the cooperative sector: This refers to the income of all wage and salary earners of the household members working in the cooperative sector including their continuous and non-continuous monetary and non-monetary receipts after tax deduction and retirement contribution.

Net income from wage and salary earnings in the private sector: This refers to the income of all wage and salary earners of the household members working in the private sector, including their continuous and non-continuous monetary and non-monetary receipts after tax deduction and retirement contribution..

Agricultural self-employment income: This refers to the income of household members as employers or own-account workers in the agricultural sector, after considering the deduction of job costings. The agricultural self-employment net income includes paid wages and salaries, primary material charges, non-durable tools, amortization, other production charges, and job taxes.

Non-agricultural self-employment income: This refers to the income of household members who work as employers or own-account workers in the non-agricultural self-employment sector. It is calculated by deducting job costs from the total income, resulting in the net income from non-agricultural self-employment.

Miscellaneous income: This includes all amounts and the monetary value of goods and services received by the household through means other than employment of its members. Examples of such income sources include retirement pensions, severance payments (golden handshake), earnings from assets, subsidies, and similar sources.

In the year 1401, the average annual net expenditure of an urban household was more than 1371.5 million rials, including 994.6 million rials for non-food expenditures (72.5 percent) and 376.8 million rials (27.5 percent) for food and tobacco expenditures. This amount increased by 48.3 percent compared to the previous year.

In the year 1401, out of the 994.6 million rials for average annual urban household net non-food expenditure, the highest and lowest shares go to housing expenditure with 522.2 million rials (52.5 percent) and recreation, entertainment, and cultural services with 22.1 million rials (2.2 percent), respectively.

Furthermore, in the same year, out of 376.8 million rials for annual urban household food and tobacco expenditures, the highest and lowest shares were for meat, with 78.1 million rials (20.7 percent), and for spices, seasonings, and pickles, with 13.8 million rials (3.7 percent), respectively.

In the year 1401, the average annual net expenditure of rural households amounted to 788.6 million rials, which included 460.1 million rials for non-food expenditures (58.3 percent) and 328.5 million rials (41.7 percent) for food and tobacco expenditures, reflecting an increase of 51.9 percent compared to the previous year.

In the year 1401, out of 460.1 million rials for the average net non-food expenditure of a rural household, housing expenditure accounted for the highest proportion at 150.7 million rials (32.8 percent), while recreation, entertainment, and cultural services expenditure represented the lowest proportion at 10.2 million rials (2.2 percent). Additionally, out of 328.5 million rials for the average net food and tobacco expenditure of a rural household, meat had the highest share at 68.0 million rials (20.7 percent), while spices, seasonings, and pickles had the lowest share at 11.7 million rials (3.6 percent) among the expenditure items.

In the year 1401, the average annual income of an urban household was approximately 1,669.6 million rials. Among the income sources, miscellaneous incomes, totaling 855.5 million rials (51.2 percent), accounted for the largest share.

Additionally, in the year 1401, the average annual income of a rural household reached about 986.4 million rials. Among the income sources, miscellaneous incomes, amounting to 374.0 million rials (37.9 percent), represented the largest share.
